Then, before clicking anything, point out the four companies, the Who are you? list (20 people, numbered in the presentation order) and the demo-role buttons. 8	My work › My Tasks	Set the Block 12 safety walk to 75% and add a note.	Managers see progress without asking.
9	My Profile › Certificates	Occupational First Aid Level 1 expires Nov 10: Renew… · certificate number OFA1-2026-4471 · attach any PDF → Save renewal. Then show Overview, Employment, Pension & Benefits and Reviews.	HR is reminded before tickets expire — no spreadsheet.

Good to know while presenting

- Show the 3-way match on the existing bills (IDC-88812, SS-30417). Orders made from a request, such as PO-2026-0012, have no item lines, so there is nothing for the match to compare line by line. Don't link a supplier bill to it in Matching.
- Don't approve a bill you entered yourself — the platform won't let you. Say it out loud as a control: nobody approves their own request or bill.
- “End employment” is refused for the seven demo sign-ins, so they stay usable. Use Emma Lawson or another crew member.
- Uploads are required in three places: the receipt on an expense claim, the new certificate on a renewal, and the booking confirmation before Finance marks a trip processed. Keep the small PDF ready.
- Payroll as its own role: the Payroll Administrator button signs in Rachel Dubois, who can run the same pay run as Daniel.
- The shared link needs no password. Anyone with it can pick any name; use the Administrator's Settings to reset.
- Numbers like PO-2026-0012, EC-2026-0020, TR-2026-0020, PR-2026-0006 and CT-2026-0006 assume you start from fresh demo data. Dates assume a demo in the Nov 2 – Nov 15, 2026 pay period; on another day, use the current period and dates a few weeks ahead.
- Lost? Esc closes any popup; Switch role in the yellow bar always returns to the sign-in page.

Talking points that land well

- Built-in reporting line. Buttons name the approver (“Send to Liam”); requests climb by amount, never skipping a level.
- Finance approves only its own team. Every other request goes to the requester's manager, then the Director above the amount; the administrator edits this in Approval rules.
- Separation of duties. Nobody approves their own request or bill; Finance pays but the site receives.
- Menus follow the role. Maya sees five menus, Daniel sees the whole finance side; every page also checks permission on its own.
- Contracts follow the ladder. Liam, his managers and the executives see the grapple contract; HR does not.
- Everything is recorded. The audit log and each record's history show who did what, and when.
